DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1 and 2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by anyone of Stangel et al. US 5,021,793; Gabriel et al. US 4,937,584; Dickey, Jr. et al. US006166689A; or Hussain et al. US005515060A.

Referring to claims 1-2 and 4, Stangel discloses in figure 1 a radar system which reduces the interfering effect of a radar transmitter including generating at said radar transmitter a constant-amplitude pulse centered at a frequency within said nominal frequency bandwidth of said radar and having a nominal bandwidth which lies within said nominal frequency bandwidth, and which also has an actual bandwidth which extends into said other operating band; applying phase perturbations to said constant-amplitude pulse so as to produce a phase-perturbed constant-amplitude pulse centered at said frequency within said nominal frequency bandwidth of said radar with reduced amplitude of that portion of said actual bandwidth of said constant-amplitude pulse which lies within said other operating band; and transmitting said phase-perturbed constant-amplitude pulse toward a radar target (see figure 1, Abstract, col. 2 lines 24-50). Gabriel teaches a similar system to suppress interference using phase perturbations to null the interferences (see Abstract). Dickey also teaches a similar system using phase perturbations to null interferences (see col. 10 lines 21-35).

Hussain teaches a clutter suppression for a radar array including a perturbation phase generator (see Abstract).

Referring to claims 5-6, it's inherent that each of the reference above teaches the claimed null center factor, where at least one of the frequency, width, shape is identified. (see Dickey, col. 2 line 65 – col. 3 line 5; see Hussain col. 2 lines 18-22).

Allowable Subject Matter

Claim 3 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-6 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
